

SAUNTERINGS

From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

PRESS reports from Sylva, N. C., tell of the successful experience of one Albert Teester, mountaineer evangelist, in a test of faith versus deadly rattlesnake bite. With all due respect to the power and miracles of faith in their proper scope, we are inclined to believe the North Carolina evangelist was fortunate enough to escape a full charge of rattlesnake venom into his blood stream. It is doubtful that intelligent ministers of the gospel place much importance on this so-called modern day miracle. Brother Teester is indeed fortunate he did not tackle the fangs of a huge Texas diamond back rattlesnake. Doubtless if the fangs chanced to pierce an artery. In that case it would have been a visit to St. Peter or Old Nick for the Evangelist. Muey Pronto.

BIRTHDAYS come and birthdays go—ex-presidents are no exception. Hon. Herbert Clark Hoover, 31st. president of the United States celebrated his sixtieth birthday at his Palo Alto, California home last Friday. Hoover was born at West Branch, Iowa, in 1874, a mining engineer by profession, of Swiss ancestry, and a Quaker in religious belief. He was inaugurated in 1929 at the age of 54 years.

THE night was sultry. Not a bit of breeze stirred within the house, so Richard Saunders, 22, residing near San Antonio moved his bedding to the top of his garage to enjoy a cooling snooze beneath the stars. All would have been well if Richard hadn't rolled in his sleep. But he did, and fell from his 10-foot perch. County hospital attendants patched a bused nose, a fractured jaw, a broken arm and other injuries.

IF YOUR tooth aches, consult a dentist—health bad—go to your family doctor. . . . But if it's better business you're after—RUSH to the business office of this newspaper. Trained expert will diagnose the needs of your individual case. Results will prove amazing.

FROM the classified ads—Letters mailed from any city in the U. S.—20 cents, foreign countries 50 cents. That gives us an idea. Suppose we invest half-a-dollar and send our creditors a letter—say from Egypt. "Have you measured the Pyramids. Take care of obligations when we return." Here's one that should interest the used car dealers. "Will pay $10 cash for the best car offered." Probably this party expects a radio and floating power at that figure.

OUR political friends in office should have this advice printed in bold letters over their desks: "Too persistent wire pullers are likely sooner or later to get hold of some of that kind of wire that keeps the cows from straying—and sometimes tears little boy's trousers."

ACCORDING to safety authorities, the following are safe margins between vehicles traveling in a single lane at various rates of speed:

- 30 miles an hour—71 feet.
- 35 miles an hour—90 feet.
- 40 miles an hour—113 feet.
- 45 miles an hour—138 feet.
- 50 miles an hour—167 feet.
- 55 miles an hour—198 feet.
- 60 miles an hour—233 feet.

In other words, don't crowd too close behind the motorist ahead. He may suddenly decide to jam on his brakes. If you can't stop—you and your passengers will likely be victims of a wreck with the hospital or morgue as our destination. You will notice that no stopping space is listed above 60-miles per hour. When your speedometer exceeds that figure there's just fool's luck separating you from a harp—or worse.

THE funniest "morning after" story since the return of John Barleycorn concerns a man-about-town who awoke on "the morning after the night before" to find his shoes, hat, and a bag of peanuts tucked away in the electric refrigerator. The rouser is still unable to account for possession of the goods.

WERE just about getting acquainted with the front and hind end of these new model air flow designed motor cars. But we think they're swell just the same.

The bond of society consists of reason and speech—Cicero.

As a man speaks, so is he—Publius Syrus.

According to Publius' philosophy, that makes some of our politicians stand out as liars and double crossers if we pit campaign promises against actual performance in office.

A NEW cattle brand has sprung into existence throughout the ranchlands of southwest Texas. It is the "E. B. A." (Emergency Relief Administration.) It is predicted by cattlemen that this brand will shortly be on more cattle than any other Texas has known in many years. Uncle Sam's method of branding cattle is not meeting with the approval of the cowpunchers. Instead of the typical open range style of branding with hot branding irons, the government is merely stamping its brand on the cattle's hide with green paint. The boys who wear the boots, spurs, and ten-gallon hats figure that Uncle Sam is kinda horn-bling in on their roping and branding ability. "If that keeps on the cows will want permanent, and the bulls will be giving us the house laugh," one lanky cowboy remarked at a government branding session.

BENEFIT FAIR FOR LOCAL HOSPITAL SEPTEMBER 1 AT COLLEGE GROUNDS

Proceeds To Go To Building Fund—Committees Appointed—Support of All Solicited for Local King's Daughters Emergency Hospital

A special meeting has been held for the purpose of choosing committees and completing plans for the Benefit Fair to be held Saturday, Sept. 1, 6 P. M., at St. Stanislaus College lawn for raising money for the building fund of the local King's Daughters Hospital of this city.

To what benefit this local institution is to both Hancock county and Bay St. Louis is already known. It is a place, belonging to the public, the rich and poor alike, who are in need of immediate attention or other hospital requirements. It has been proven on several occasions how necessary the hospital has been in case of accidents, such as has occurred only recently, the victims being brought to the local hospital where they received attention and were possibly spared from death by the quick work of attendants.

Only recently a letter was published in the columns of this paper which was written by the mother of a young woman who was the victim of an automobile accident and today owes her life to the hospital. This is only one instance of the many where the hospital has served visitors as well as the local people of this and other sections of the county. It is your hospital. You should be willing to support it to the fullest. No one knows what might happen to them. But they do know that the hospital is there when needed. Make it your business to attend the Fair and contribute your part to so worthy a cause. Cooperation accomplishes a lot! Let's co-operate! The proceeds of the Fair will be applied to the building fund of the hospital. The appropriations from the city, county and State cannot be used for this purpose as they are used for the maintenance of the hospital only.

The following chairmen and their committees will be in charge of the various booths:

Novelty Booth—Chairman, Mrs. Robin; Mesdames L. Seal, C. Buckley, H. Kergosien, Miss M. Perkins. Sandwiches—Chairman, Mrs. C. M. Weeks; Mesdames S. Power, E. J. Lacoste, Talliaferro, Miss Crawford. HURT IN ACCIDENT THURSDAY

C. M. Weeks and James H. Sylvester Injured When Cars Meet

Thursday just before noon an auto accident occurred at Hancock and Booker streets when a new Chevrolet of the Weeks Motor Co., and driven by Mr. Weeks and a Chevrolet, driven by Mrs. Chas. Testard of New Orleans and a summer visitor to Bay St. Louis collided.

Both Mr. Weeks and Mr. Sylvester were injured receiving several cuts about the face and hands, Sylvester being the most badly injured, cut on shoulder and bruised. He was thrown out of the car by the impact.

Mrs. Testard and three other ladies received minor cuts and were treated at Fahey Drug Store by Dr. J. C. Buckley. The Weeks car was practically wrecked being hit and driven against a telephone post. The Testard car was badly damaged having the front part of the car smashed. The direct cause of the accident could not be ascertained before going to press.

ESTIMABLE RESIDENT OF BAY BURIED AT NEW ORLEANS, LA.

E. E. Bauduc, Scion of Fine Old Family, Passes Away At Dr. Smith's Home

Following a siege of illness covering a long period, Emile Edgar Bauduc, residing at the home of his relatives, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith, passed away at the Smith home Friday evening of last week, August 10, 1934, at 9:20 o'clock.

Funeral took place next forenoon at New Orleans on arrival in that city of the 11:20 o'clock Louisville & Nashville R. R. train, with interment in St. Louis Cemetery No. 3, Esplanade avenue. Funeral ceremony held at the church of St. Rose de Lima, New Orleans.

Mr. Bauduc was a native of New Orleans, aged 76 years and husband of the late Angeline Lanoux. He was also a brother of William J. Harrison of Bay St. Louis, making his home with Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith, a relative of the latter and to whom he had been a foster father.

His ailment was an incurable one but every attention possible was tenderly ministered and nothing left undone. He spent several weeks at the New Orleans Sanitarium, where he received the attention of best specialists in New Orleans. Finally, his family wanted him home with them when it was learned nothing could be definitely done for him. He had been like a father to one and all, respected, honored and beloved and it was their desire he pass his last days in the very bosom of the family.

Mr. Bauduc was a gentleman of the old school, cultured and ever cordial. He was well known in his native city where he had many friends who learned of his passing away with general regret.

The funeral here Saturday morning was largely attended and numerous floral tributes attested to the general esteem in which he was held. He was a scion of an old and honored family representative of the very best of ante bellum days.

Interesting News Notes Relative To Bay City Library

Mrs. Carl Marshall, president of the Library Board, announces on good authority that the public library of Piquette staged a tag day and realized twenty-five hundred dollars, seventeen hundred in pledges and cash donations from private individuals and eight hundred dollars from the city! So what? Watch for a "Tag Day" here in the near future.

Meanwhile the good work goes forward in the absence of heavy funds. Here are three new books we are dying to read: "The Fault of Angels" by Harper's Twenty-Second; "Private prize novel by Paul Horgan; "Private Worlds" by Phillip Botome; and "Anthony Adverse" by Hervey Allen. Brand new books for children include: "Heidi," by Sperry; "Arabian Nights," "Hans Brinker," by M. M. Dodge; "Daniel Boone, Wilderness Scout," by S. E. White; "Animals Looking at You," by Paul Eipper; "Best Loved Poems" by J. W. Riley; "Japanese Fairy Books" by Ozaki; "Westward Ho" by Charles Kingsley; "Jo's Boys" by L. M. Alcott; and "Tales From Shakespeare," by Charles and Mary Lamb. Two second hand books are: "Fairy Tales Every Child Should Know" by H. W. Mabie and "Wild Animals I have Known," by E. T. Seton.

During the past week fourteen books were given the library by Miss Thrifflay, and one child's book, by Erin Lafontaine.

HOLLYWOOD REVUE SCORES

Entertainment is Unusual—Children Make Big Hit—Neat Sum Realized

The results of the Hollywood Revue and Bathing Beauty Contest presented last Wednesday night at S. J. A. Memorial Hall was a complete success both financially and as a superb entertainment.

The little folks impersonating movie stars were nothing short of perfect and they portrayed their parts professionally. It would be unfair to single out any particular ones as each scored heavily according to the applause of the enthusiastic audience. The only difference between the real stars and their make-believes was the age and size.

Miss New Orleans—Paulette Piazza.

Miss Bay St. Louis—Carol Stevenson.

Miss Logtown—Ann Weston.

Miss Lakeshore—Alcedell Bennett.

Miss Waveland—Imelda Chadwick.

Miss Pass Christian—Irene Hanson.

Miss Long Beach—Ann Farrell.

Miss Gulfport—Dorothy Cormier.

The winners of the bathing revue were, First, "Miss Waveland," represented by Little Miss Imelda Chadwick; Second place, "Miss Bay St. Louis," Miss Carol Stevenson; third place, "Miss Logtown," Miss Ann Weston. Accompanist for the bathing revue was Miss Elsie Mae Capdepone.

A sketch by Mr. Jerry Gordon was well done.

Mrs. Albert Bieh, accompanied by Miss Mathilda Maurigi and Mrs. S. J. Carso, accompanied by Miss Le Caze, entertained with song numbers.

The affair was directed by Mrs. E. J. Lacoste, Jr., and sponsored by the S. J. A. Parents Club. A neat sum was realized.

The following schools of the county opened August 6th—Caesar Line, Leetown, Catahoula, Flat Top and Aaron Academy. Kiln Vocational High opened August 13th., with a large enrollment and the promise of a very successful year's work. The teaching staff at Kiln has not been completed, but of the thirteen now on duty, there are nine new faces.

Scafile is a native of Hancock county and has resided in Bay St. Louis all his life. He became world famous when playing football with Tulane University and was a big feature in the Tulane-California football game at the Rose Bowl, playing along side his school mate "Wop" Glover, who has recently been made coach at St. Stanislaus College for the coming season.

Scafile steered a contract to play professional football, but was compelled to give up his pursuit when he suffered a broken leg. Kiln school has some very good football material and it is predicted that Coach Scafile will put out a leading team for this school.

The principal speaker at the opening exercises of Kiln school was C. C. Barefoot of Pearl River Junior College. Supt. A. S. McQueen also spoke on the outlook of the 1934-35 season, assuring those present that there would be a full eight-month school term this year. The financial condition of the schools of the county is much better now than at this time last year, and things look mighty encouraging, concluded Supt. McQueen.

Following is a list of the teachers and superintendents of the various county schools:

A WORTHY DECLARATION

"If I am elected Governor of this State, I shall cooperate fully with the President of the United States; aggressively when I think he is right and silently when in doubt; and, at all times, I will vote and work and pray for a successful national administration."

The utterance strikes us as a splendid expression of the proper attitude for officials and citizens everywhere and, for this reason, we pass it along to readers of the The Echo.

The speaker was former Senator W. B. Pine, Republican nominee for Governor of the State of Oklahoma.

SHOULD WOMEN WEAR SHORTS?

WHEN Chicago golfing leaders sanction the appearance of women entrants in "shorts" the rulers of the game in New York turn thumbs down on the abbreviated costume that has become popular in tennis.

Just what is the proper costume for women is a question, it seems, that has bothered men for some centuries, although the women give little attention to masculine opinion. For that reason, let us not get into the battle, although for the life of us we can see no objection to shorts in golf and tennis when compared with the ultra-scantiness of the modern bathing outfit.

In fact, the tendency of modern women to abandon clothes has about reached the point where stage shows find it hard to capitalize upon the generally approved female form, more or less divine, but no longer mysterious.

WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT

THERE is, we take it, no doubt but that the American people admire what has generally been termed individual liberty or that they desire little governmental interference with them and their affairs.

Upon that statement there should be agreement. However, when overenthusiastic advocates of big business use this sentiment to bolster their argument that government should leave business alone they miss the essential lesson that has been taught by the depression.

While constitutionally against governmental domination of people or activity of citizens of the United States were compelled to choose between the unchecked capacity of greedy capitalists or stringent government regulation. There was no other choice. The evils of finance, business and industry had reduced a nation to want in the midst of plenty, and something had to happen.

Few sane people of Hancock county would today wish to see the same forces allowed to work unrestricted because they believe that the result will be another disaster after a period of false prosperity. Hence, if necessary to curb greedy profiteers and business racketeers they will continue to favor stringent regulation and effective policing of selfish interests.

FIVE MOILLION JOBS

THE importance of home building and repairing in the fight for recovery was well summarized recently by Bernard L. Johnson, editor of the American Builder, when he said:

"The tremendous decline in expenditures for home building from an average of $3,000,000,000 a year to less than $200,000,000 in 1931 and 1932 was a major cause of depression and unemployment. Stimulation of home building and repairs... will eventually give employment to 5,000,000 men directly or indirectly dependent on building for their livelihood. Home building is a local industry. It will put men to work in their own home towns at their own jobs, and will give business to local contractors, lumber dealers, hardware stores, electrical and supply shops and other local businesses."

Every type of business and worker is benefited when a wave of building and modernizing sweeps through a community. Every dollar spent starts a great financial circle—the money goes to workmen who pay their bills and are able to buy more products; it goes to stores which in turn are enabled to meet their obligation and restock; it goes to farmers and to doctors and, in the form of taxes, to government. Eventually it comes back, with interest in the coin of better business, to the original spender.

Planning your work is good, but doing it is much better.

A politician can't get elected without stating the reasons why he should get the votes. How can a business expect to be elected to success, unless it tells the people the reasons why it should be patronized?

Strikes are like fevers. They must run a certain length of time before the employers and employees arrive at a stage when they show symptoms of common sense.

There's no law or code restriction against putting on a little muscle and putting aside a little cash by hard work while waiting for your ship to come in.

SCIENCE HONEST IF MISTAKEN

IT MAY be a joke on scientists that what the Smithsonian Institute has held out as the "oldest known ear of corn on earth" turns out to be a fake in the form of a baby rattle, made by some unknown Peruvian craftsman centuries ago, but to the credit of science is the prompt revelation of the mistake.

That is the one attribute that gives science its standing in a world of doubt, that while it may set forth conceptions and theories in many fields of human endeavor, it is as ready to abandon them and avow the error when truth is disclosed. What more can the individual ask of science?

For about twenty years, it seems, the institute exhibited the fossil ear of corn, presumably the proof that corn was cultivated by the Peruvians in very ancient times. Investigation by Dr. Roland W. Brown revealed that the supposed fossil was made of baked clay, with a conical cavity containing three small pellets, and was obviously a crude rattle to amuse some prehistoric infant.

Nevertheless, let it be noted that it was a clever copy of an ear of corn, fashioned with ingenuity, proving beyond doubt that the potter was familiar with corn and that therefore, in fact corn did grow in that period of antiquity.

Thus, while the fossil is a fake, the fact remains, as alleged, that corn, or maize, did grow and the rattle attests the fact as conclusively as the fossil.

KILLING 80 CHILDREN A WEEK

WITH the opening of schools all over the United States it becomes increasingly important that some attention be given to the death of thousands of children killed by motor vehicles every year.

Last year 4,100 children were killed on the highways of this nation and the record for the first four months of 1934 shows an increase. It is time for chambers of commerce, automobile clubs, city administrations, school officials, women's clubs, parent-teacher organizations, and everybody else to give some thought to this menace.

Time and again The Sea Coast Echo has pointed out that if some unknown malady was stalking through the United States, killing eighty children a week, the press and every other agency of information and debate would be filled with wild speculation and the people as a whole would be in a state of panic.

However, we take automobile deaths for granted. It is the price that we are apparently willing to pay for speed and the right to do as we please on the public highways. Accidents occur, investigations are perfunctory and nobody ever gets into jail. It is time that this policy be abandoned and we hope that public officials in Hancock County will see fit to use their power and influence to make the highways here safer than they have been for some time.

PAPER FROM PINE

During the past few years, Dr. Charles W. Herty, chemist, has demonstrated at Savannah that newsprint could be satisfactorily manufactured from Southern slash pine.

The importance of this demonstration to the South has not yet been fully grasped. This pine can grow in about one half the time taken by other trees being used in the manufacture of paper. Much of the unused or unprofitably used land in the South could then be profitably used in growing of slash pine for pulp mills.

ABOUT THE WEATHER

A WASHINGTON radio announcer who stated through the microphone that the place in which he was working was dreadfully hot, received a telephone call in which he was asked to change the subject since the psychological effect of his remark was bad. Psychology has come into prominence of late and no doubt is entitled to the importance that is attached to it, but not even psychology should be permitted to kill so important a topic of conversation as the weather. Climatic conditions have bridged over many a wide chasm at a dinner table and elsewhere. Not everyone is a diplomat or a good conversationalist. Our right to talk about the weather now and then may not be guaranteed by the Constitution, but it should not be curtailed or infringed.

THE SEA-ELEPHANT MOST VALUABLE

A COLLECTION of wild animals is of unusual interest to almost everybody and one is fascinated by the exploits of the wild game hunter who goes out to capture rather than to kill his quarry.

Lorenz Hagenback, part owner, of the famous menagerie and circus at Hamburg, Germany, recently arrived in this country after travelling eighteen months in Japan, China and the Far East for the purchase of wild animals. He says that while there is small demand for them at this time, the sea elephant, bringing from $10,000 to $25,000 each, has the highest value, with the giraffe and the Indian rhinoceros, bringing from $3,000 to $5,000 each, being next in value. Lions, he reports, are so plentiful, that one could fill menageries with them and tigers also are fairly plentiful.

YOUR BREAD AND BUTTER

THE greatest service being rendered to our country today by editors, is their help in awakening the people to the fact that The People are the government, that the constitution which protects them is the greatest document in the world guaranteeing life, liberty and pursuit of happiness in social and business activity, and that encroachments and limitations which are made on it detract from the opportunities of our citizens.

The safety of American property rights lies in a widespread and general understanding of these simple basic propositions.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

SILVER

THERE is a very strong sentiment in Congress favoring the policy of "doing something for silver." President Roosevelt is apparently not much in favor of the idea, but has been compelled to yield somewhat to the pressure, so a bill was passed at the last session authorizing him to buy a huge quantity of it, and to issue paper currency against it. The news has recently come out that silver has been nationalized, that is that it is all to be stored in government vaults, instead of being allowed to circulate as much as it could. There is only one better place for the metal than government vaults, which is the private depositories of the present owners.

Most people who talk about silver know very little about it practically. About sixty million dollars in silver dollars was all that we ever had in circulation. A little personal experience acquired where there was no other kind of money may help to make the subject clear.

When the writer went to the Philippine Islands many years ago, he was given, soon after his arrival at Manila, a check for a little more than a hundred dollars gold to cover certain salary and travel expenses. He cashed the check at a bank, and was handed legal tender at the establishment rate of exchange for the day. The trouble was that the legal tender was silver, at the rate of 2.55 to 1.00, and the 250 pesos handed out weighed about fifteen pounds. It filled a sack large enough to hold more than a pound of coffee. His wrist was lame from carrying the stuff home without spilling.

Later he handled silver in larger amounts. A thousand pesos, which were coins about the size of dollars, but worth only thirty-five to fifty cents each, depending on the market, weighed almost exactly sixty pounds. He lost half a ton of them once. He was trying to ship them to Manila on a steamer, and left them in charge of police while he went to get some shipping documents. There was no danger of sneak thieves, because the stuff was boxed in strong cases weighing more than 125 pounds each; but the police moved it while he was away. The half ton was worth some six or seven thousand dollars in real money, so he was quite relieved when he found it again.

Later still he helped move larger sums in the city of Manila between the banks and the treasury. We would put a hundred fifty bags, each containing a thousand pesos, on a four-horse truck. The extra horses were needed, for the load weighed four and a half tons, for a value of sixty or seventy thousand dollars.

There was a small quantity of old bank notes in circulation the only paper money to be had at all. These commanded a premium of one per cent. That is you had to pay 101 silver pesos for 100 pesos in paper, if you could get the paper. You see you could put the one in your pocket, but you could not conveniently carry six or seven pounds of metal around in your pocket.

The trouble with silver as money today is exactly that. Nobody wants it, either in small or large quantities, because it is so heavy in proportion to its value, and therefore awkward and inconvenient to handle and carry. It takes an expert seven minutes to count a thousand silver cart-wheels. The silver advocates try to get around that fact by proposing to issue silver certificates against it. A silver certificate is, therefore, a promise to pay the owner something which neither he nor anybody else, wants. He can use a little small change, for which purpose silver is convenient, but a pound or two of that at a time is enough, or too much.

A lot of farmers were once persuaded that, if silver was remonetized, prices of wheat and other products would double, and that they would make big profits. That old idea still remains in the minds of many people, especially those who were young forty years ago. It almost wrecked the Democratic party, and it is not well supported by either theory or fact.

Gold is good money because every body, all over the world, even in silver money countries, wants it. The government pays $35.00 an ounce for it. Silver is poor money because nobody wants it, not even the congressmen who force the government to buy it, the mining companies that are selling it, or the farmers who think it will make us pay more for farm crops. The government is buying it at fifty cents an ounce, (64¢ to American silver mining corporations.)

The arguments for silver, except the historical, might easily be applied to gravel, and the same method of handling adopted. The government could buy the gravel at a dollar or two a ton, store it in huge piles, and issue gravel certificates against the purchases. The advantage would be that many farmers all over the country, have gravel beds on their land, so the pay would be well scattered around, while silver is produced by a few large corporations.

The only possible profit in silver is in market speculation in silver stocks. The wise ones are reported to have made some important money that way, already, betting on the government purchase to raise prices. Nobody can steal much of the metal because it is too heavy to haul away.

MISSISSIPPI TAX COLLECTIONS FOR JULY SET RECORD

Revenues Total $705,000, Highest of Present Administration

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 2.—The business trend is upward in Mississippi, tax officials claim.

A record tax month during July was reported today by the State Tax Commission.

Topping all preceding months of this administration, July's receipts totaled $705,000, approximately $50,000 more than for the previous high mark record in November, 1933.

At the head of the receipts stood sales tax returns, with $315,210 for the month, as compared with $231,268 for July, 1933, and $243,025 for last June.

This month's sales tax yield is the highest for any month except January, when the total reached $362,749.

Tax officials showed that the beer levy already has produced more than half the $200,000 estimated by the Legislature for the biennium. July beer tax collections of $19,898 brought the total to $136,877 for the period since beer was legalized last February 27.

Weather Affects All of Us, Say The Experts

One of the most widely discussed topics and one about which man can do absolutely nothing is the weather. Given long enough, practically any group of men, gathered almost anywhere, will finally get around to a discussion of the weather and its probable effects on the crops of that particular community.

Even the residents of Hancock county devote much time to such discussions, don't they? And, really, when you come to think of it, the weather plays an important part in our lives.

Some experts now claim that the weather not only controls the production of crops and the like, but that it has a definite effect on each one of us. It, to a large extent, they say, controls our emotions and our state of mind.

This reasoning will be readily accepted by some of us because we have often found ourselves "down in the dumps" with the blues, for no apparent reason at all, during spells of cloudy, dark days and have noticed, to our surprise, the blues disappear and our spirits brighten up considerable with the reappearance of the bright sunshine.

These experts also declare that the weather has its effects on the progress of human diseases—some responding and others being retarded by different kinds of weather, and so, after all, when Grandpa prophesies that it's going to rain because his rheumatic joints tell him so, don't look so superior and consider it just as a sign of advancing old age, because Grandpa may be right at that!

Pessimism

A reader asked us, "You have much optimism. Your paper glows with it. But doesn't good judgment dictate that you be more pessimistic?"

Listen sister, the world is coated with pessimism. It is like tuberculosis germs—everywhere. An individual must have a superb amount of optimism to be even near normal. There are so many gloom carriers, pessimism peddlers, and the like that if an individual didn't glow a bit with the elements of hope and faith he would find himself in the middle of a perpetually dark night. A whole lot of optimism is required merely to think normally.

Don't worry. If there is any one thing the world needs today, it is optimism. The nation is suffering from scarcity of enthusiasm.—Enterprise, McComb, Miss.

WASHINGTON NOTES

GEN. JOHNSON SAYS
General Hugh Johnson says that impartial London economists have studied purchasing power of workers' wages with this astonishing result: that in all other industrial countries the trend remained slowly downward but here, under NRA, the curve started slowly up and has never declined.

PRICE BAN DROPPED

Sales of new automobiles to government agencies are no longer governed by the price provision of the vehicles code. This action is generally taken as another indication or a desire to drop all price fixing, except where absolutely necessary to protect the trade from unscrupulous dealers who cut prices below cost.

BUILD PARK DRIVE

Construction work has been authorized on the two sections of the 500-mile scenic drive that will eventually connect the Shenandoah and the Great Smoky Mountain national parks.

STEEL EMPLOYMENT UP

The steel industry in June, according to NRA figures, employed more workers in June than in any June for the past four years and paid out $12,000,000 more in salaries and wages than it would have expended without the code.

DROUGHT AFFECTS MANY

It is estimated that more than 800,000 persons are on relief rolls in the drought stricken western half of the United States.

NEW SILVER CURRENCY

New silver currency was placed in circulation last week when $24,440,000 in $1 and $5 bills, part of the $47,000,000 to be backed by bullion, began to move through the treasury.

INFLATION CAMPAIGN

Senator Elmer Thomas, of Oklahoma, plans a campaign to secure popular support for further depreciation of the currency.

HARDWOOD MEMORIAL

A beautiful hardwood forest is proposed to Theodore Roosevelt on Roosevelt Island in the Potomac, but plans must be accepted by the Memorial Association which donated the island to the government.

THE SHAMEFUL STORY

DISCUSSING the shameful fact that Mississippi has drawn more than $53,000,000 from the Federal Treasury in the past year, and that relief funds are still being poured out in every county and every community in the state, the Jackson news says:

During the month of April Jackson had 2,197 persons on the FERA relief rolls. In May the number increased to 2,749, a jump of 25 per cent.

Meridian had 3,274 persons on the relief rolls in April and 3,301 in May, a jump of one per cent.

Vicksburg had 1,146 persons on the relief rolls in April and 3,301 in May, a jump of 14 per cent.

Mull those figures over in your minds, folks. You can't understand them. Neither does anybody else.

More than 7,000 persons allegedly destined in three cities of the most intensely agricultural state in the Union, a state, where 87.9 per cent of the people, according to census figures, derive their living direct from the soil.

Three small cities whose combined population is not much above 100,000 and more than 7000 persons dragging down doles from the government, to say nothing about at least one thousand and others who have managed to get their names on the Federal pay roll.

CONGRESSMEN'S TERMS

COMMENTING on the custom of reelecting congressmen who have shown themselves to be honest and qualified to a second term the Clarion-Ledger of Jackson says: "The office of a Congressman is constantly subject to the will of the people. The people have an opportunity to elect to this office every two years."

"Custom has always been a very strong influence among Democrats. 'No political custom has become more firmly established, perhaps, than that of giving a Democratic congressman who has made good a second term without opposition, especially during a Democratic administration, when the incumbent has worked in harmony with his party."

"We are in the midst of one of the most popular Democratic administrations the nation ever had. Also, the greater problems ever faced the American government and people than the ones we are dealing with."

IN "The Gay Divorce," in which Fred Astaire is being featured, RKO believes it has something new and refreshing in the way of musicals. Its sets, comedy and dancing, give indications of distinction.

Henry Hull, the Broadway actor who surprised many by signing a contract with Universal to appear in "The Great Expectations," explains that the reason he had not attempted to get into pictures was because he hadn't had the opportunity he wanted. He was given a chance of roles and manner of performance by Carl Laemmle.

Frank Lawton, borrowed from Universal, is to have the title role in MGM's version of "David Copperfield." Following his appearance in "Calvary," Mr. Lawton went to England, returned to New York to play in "The Wind and the Rain," and back to Hollywood to appear in John Galsworthy's "One More River."

So successful was his work in "The Painted Veil," Kye Luke, Chinese artist and advertising man, has been adopted by RKO. He will go to Warner Brothers studio for "Oil For The Lamps of China," according to present plans, and then will return to Metro for "The Good Earth," in August.

Enroute to Broadway and to the country at large from Paramount studios will be "Enter Madame," with Elissa Landi and Lynne Overman. "The Lemon Drop Kid," with Lee Tracy and Helen Mack; "Limehouse Nights," with George Raft and Sylvia Sydney; and "Ready for Love," with Ida Lupino and Richard Arlen.

Gloria Swanson will be co-featured with Clark Gable, at Metro, in an original story by Frances Marion, author of "The Big House," "Min and Bill," "Emma," and a host of others. The title of the story has not been selected as yet, however.

Laurel Atwill has replaced Colin Clive in "Firebrand," at the Warner studios. In the cast also are Richard Cortez, with Verree Teasdale as the feminine interest.

Ramon Novarra has returned to Hollywood following concert tour of South America. Two roles co-featured with Evelyn Laye, British actress, in "Tiptoes," and Her Excellency's Tobacco Shop, await him at the MGM studios.

Harold Lloyd's first film in two years, "The Cat's Paw," is the first story of this type he has done. Critics are applauding the results.

Among the productions planned by RKO-Radio during August are "By Your Leave," with Skeets Gallagher; "Anne of Green Gables," with Anne Shirley and Tom Brown; "The Little Minister," with Katherine Hepburn and John Beal; "Let's Get Married," and "Radio City Revels," with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers; and "Kentucky Kernels," with Wheeler and Woolsey.

PRINTING PRESSES KEPT BUSY WITH NEW SILVER BILLS

Washington, Aug. 12.—Administration officials took a holiday from public discussions of their silver policies today, standing by their last reiteration of the belief that the plan would not cause appreciable inflation.

At the government printing office, Sunday meant no time off for the men who are printing the $80,000,000 in new currency. They were ahead of schedule but still far behind the demand.

As fast as the currency is being turned out, officials said, it is being paid on current running expenses by the treasurer. Small batches also are being forwarded to Federal Reserve banks with the request that they try for its immediate distribution.

1 quart scalded milk
3 tablespoons fat
1 cup cold milk
3-4 cup molasses
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
3 eggs well beaten
Add the cornmeal gradually to the scalded milk, stirring constantly and cook in top of double boiler for 20 minutes. Then add the fat, cold milk, molasses, beaten eggs, stirring constantly. Turn into large greased pudding dish. Bake in oven 325 degrees for 1½ hours, until a silver knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Chill thoroughly, serve with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Cocoa Pudding
2 cups milk, pinch of salt
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cocoa
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix cocoa, sugar and salt, moisten with a little milk to make a paste. Add to warm milk and heat to boiling point. Remove from fire and add gelatin which has been in ½ cup cold water. Add vanilla and mix well. Pour into mold and chill for several hours. Serve with whipped cream.

Sen. John Lumpkin

Rendered Valuable Service To His Constituents—
He Will Do The Same Thing As Your Congressman.

To the people of the Sixth Congressional District:

On August 28 you will be called upon to select a congressman to serve you for the next two years.

State Senator John Lumpkin of Pearl River County was the first to announce his candidacy for congress from the sixth district. He did so after solicitation from leaders of various sections of the district who were familiar with the service he has rendered his constituents and the state at large as Senator and as Representative in the Mississippi legislature.

John Lumpkin is a school man, farmer and stockman. In early life he worked his way through school and college while caring for his widowed mother and three small children. In 1918 he left the University of Mississippi to enter the service of his country.

Following his military service John Lumpkin was purchasing agent for four years at the Mississippi Industrial Training School at Columbia where he also taught for two years. He was later elected to the lower house of the legislature from Pearl River County in the first primary over three opponents with a majority of 882 votes.

- Will favor New Deal.
- Permanent relief for the unemployed by converting idle lands into homestead projects.
- Restoration of the homes that are under mortgage and deeds of trust by the government.
- Placing taxation upon income from investments equal to small business.
- The government financing the payment of the depositors of closed banks.
- Rural routes in all sections to be continued.
- The government to furnish employment to the unemployed.
- A bill for the growing of cotton that will give every man equal opportunity.
- Code for cotton and all farm products.
- Economy in the operation of our government expenses.
- Will encourage and work for any new industrial establishment for South Mississippi.
- He believes that the government should issue currency instead of interest bearing bonds. He believes that currency would be just as good with no difference except in color of paper. It might be said that printing money means inflation but printing bonds certainly means inflation and interest-bearing inflation at that.
- John Lumpkin doubts if there are many people who stop to consider the difference between a "promise to pay" bond and a "promise to receive" greenback, a concrete example being Muscle Shoals, which will cost $500,000,000 in bonds, $200,000,000 in interest. That is "promise to pay." He says: "Why not print $500,000,000 in greenbacks and pay for the work. The interest would be saved, the cost lowered. That's promise to receive."
- John Lumpkin points out that records show that America is good for $30,000,000,000 in interest bearing bonds, which has cost the taxpayers of America approximately $12,500,000,000 in interest since the World War. Suppose the war had been financed by greenbacks. This twelve and a half billion would have been saved.

A Vote for John Lumpkin For Congress Will be a Vote for a Man Who Is Able, Honest, Fair, and a Friend of the Poor Man.

Lumpkin for Congress Headquarters, Piquette, Miss.

SNAKES ATTACK "MAJOR" PET DOG AT BURGDAHL HOME

Ground Rattles Very Dangerous—Take No Chances Is Advice.

The Pigmy Rattler or better known as the Ground Rattler was rather busy during the past week or so in the neighborhood of Coleman, avenue. A little Fox Terrier (Major) owned by the Burgdahls was bitten on the side of the face by one of the above snakes, he was found later in the afternoon by Mr. Burgdahl, his head and neck swollen to an enormous size.

Mr. Burgdahl administered treatment to his dog; working on him for several hours finally reducing the swelling considerably; three days after the little terrier was again on the job, again locating another of the snakes which was killed by his master. A few days later he located another rattler which was also killed; the following day he was again attacked by one of the rattlers which bit him through the eye, which no doubt he will lose the sight of this eye, the last snake made good his escape.

The Pigmy Rattler or the Groul Rattler is the smallest snake of the Crotaline Snakes, and are very dangerous; they are brownish gray or ground colored; they have between thirty eight and forty-five dark blotches on back from head to tail; a narrow black band encircles blotches; a dark streak with a light streak beneath extends from below the center of the eyes to the angle of the mouth.

Children as well as grown ups should be very careful in going about barefooted, especially among dried grass or dried wood or leaves, as this little rattler strikes hard when he strikes. They remain perfectly quiet after they strike only waiting to deliver a second strike which will not be so severe as the first, but bad enough to cause severe pain and suffering. These snakes have been known cause death to children. Take no chances with bite from this snake. Seek medical attention at once. Tie a cord or rubber band above the bite while waiting for medical aid.

THEY FOUND IT DIDN'T PAY TO TRY TO DO WITHOUT IT

By A. M. Fishburn,

MANAGER

SOUTHERN BELL
Telephone and Telegraph Co.

It is surprising how many people, when ordering telephones, say they found it just didn't pay to try to get along without telephone service in the home. It is embarrassing they say, to be continually borrowing a neighbor's telephone and yet when you haven't a telephone of your own it seems as though day after day things are continually happening which make it necessary to use some kind neighbor's telephone.

There are times, too, when you would like to be able to call and talk to some friend in privacy and without interruption, or the feeling that you are holding someone else's line too long, and the only way you can do that is to have a telephone of your own.

Not having a telephone isolates you, and as a result of your friends not being able to conveniently reach you by telephone, you are very likely missing many pleasant social gatherings that you would otherwise be asked to attend.

In fact, the telephone fits so closely into every activity of life and is relied on to such an extent in the carrying on of all social and business affairs that trying to get along without telephone service seriously handicaps all of your and your family's activities.

It narrows the opportunities of all for a fuller enjoyment of life. In addition, the home without a phone is lacking in protection in case of emergencies.

It has been truthfully said of the telephone that nothing else gives so much in added pleasure and protection at such small cost.

JOHN LUMPKIN BEST NATURED SENATE MEMBER

The following article was clipped from the Daily Clarion Ledger of the 18th of July, regarding Senator Lumpkin, who is a candidate for Congress from the sixth district.

John Lumpkin, who seems to be off to a flying start in the race for Bill Colmer's job in congress, is regarded by colleagues in the legislature as one of the state's most good-natured men. At a free-for-all discussion among corridor onlookers recently John carried the straw vote for the most sunny tempered member or perhaps the world's greatest forum of controversy. In a matter of more or less heated feeling the senators were voting in a pretty snappy manner one day, it was recalled. Finally, John's name was reached on the roll call. The huge, strapping solon from Lumberton slowly brought his great bulk to a standing position, took a long breath as though he was going to thunder out his vote, and then, smiling as sweetly as a school girl, said: "Mr. President, I vote no." Thereupon he sat down quietly while an audible sigh of relieved tension swept over the chamber.

Program of Adult Education Set Up In All Counties

A program of Emergency Adult Education is being set up in all counties and the thirteen cities of the state having a population of ten thousand or over.

The purpose of this program is to give instructions to adult illiterates, those who cannot read or write and those who have very little knowledge of reading and writing and want to learn more. It will also give employment through the fall and winter months to needy unemployed teachers.

This program offers an opportunity to all adults over the age of sixteen, colored and white, who are not regularly enrolled in school and who are interested in learning to read and write and to learn the fundamentals of arithmetic and to improve themselves.

A total of seven teachers has been allotted this county. It is proposed to use this number of teachers to teach literacy classes.

It is asked that all interested in taking this work report to the principal or superintendent of their school or to some member of the welfare force.

4,000 CHILDREN OF THE COUNTRY FACE DEATH ANNUALLY

Campaign of Safety Can Save Lives by Reducing Accidents

Does it mean anything at all to us here in Bay St. Louis to learn that during last year 4,000 children were killed by motor vehicles? With an increase of six per cent in traffic deaths recorded for the first four months of this year, surely something should be done to curb this terrific toll.

In a few weeks, children will be starting back to school. This means that at certain times during the day, crowds of children will be on the sidewalks, the streets and the country roads, going to and from school. This increases the hazard and, therefore, it is timely that this matter be discussed and any plans made that have to do with making these children safer.

We realize that drivers of motor vehicles are not always at fault in these fatal accidents. The children themselves, lacking judgment, often dart out from behind packed automobiles into the paths of oncoming vehicles. They do other just as foolish things which often result fatally.

We believe that a campaign should be conducted in every school in this country which would have as its purpose the educating of children in rules of safety conduct. They should be taught to obey traffic signals, to "stop, look and listen" before crossing crowded thoroughfares and, if they reside in the country and have to walk the highways to and from school, to walk always on the left side of the road, facing the oncoming traffic.

The National Safety Council issues each year two series of ten safety posters which would do much to help this campaign to success. These posters, which are printed in bright, attractive colors to attract the attention of children, have illustrations and wording that will impress the need for safety upon the minds of the children. One of the series is designed for elementary school pupils and the other for the high schools.

We would suggest to those in charge of or especially interested in the schools of Hancock county that they secure information about these posters from The National Safety Council, Civic Opera Building, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. The sooner action is taken the better. One child saved from injury or death would make the trouble more than worthwhile.
